The roundtable featured panel discussions, breakout sessions, and interactive workshops focused on five key themes:

1. Recruitment and Pipeline Development
2. Retention and Professional Growth
3. Burnout and Wellbeing
4. Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion
5. Public-Private Partnerships for Workforce Support

Participants shared both data and lived experiences, pointing to innovative programs, successful models, and persistent gaps. One popular session spotlighted how local partnerships with community colleges are creating new career pathways for underrepresented populations.

"Our workforce is the heartbeat of healthcare, "If we don't care for them, we can't care for our communities." The event closed with a commitment to produce a summary report, capturing key takeaways and proposed action items. Organizers plan to use these findings to inform policy recommendations and drive ongoing cross-sector collaboration.
